Information Sheet

Introduction

Digital pulse processing (DPP) for nuclear spectroscopy is a well understood, mature technology, and backbone for many commercial instruments used for environmental radiation monitoring, dosimetry, X-ray fluorescence and other nuclear techniques and applications. Although the deployment of DPP-based systems has proliferated quickly, the training of the users and developers has been still inadequate in many places due to lack of training material and platforms.

Objectives

The aim of this training is to use an open software and hardware platform, and guide participants through all phases of designing a DPP system. The platform features a SiPM detector with preamplifier, analogue front-end, a FPGA module, and communication with a computer via Ethernet or USB. The participants will learn about underlying DPP algorithms, use a library of IP cores for communication and DPP in the development environment to create a reconfigurable instrument for measuring energy spectra, and test the instrument using radioactive sources. The platform features:

- Pulse shaper
- Base-line restorer
- Peak detector
- Pile-up rejector
- Real and Live-time counters
- MCA memory controller
- DPP oscilloscope

Target Audience

This training workshop is intended for developers of nuclear instruments and advanced users. Expected basic knowledge in Python and embedded C, FPGA and digital design.

Participation and Registration

All persons wishing to participate in the event have to be designated by an IAEA Member State or should be members of organizations that have been invited to attend.

In order to be designated by an IAEA Member State, participants are requested to send the Participation Form (Form A) to their competent national authority (e.g. Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Permanent Mission to the IAEA or National Atomic Energy Authority) for onward transmission to the IAEA by 2 March 2026. Participants who are members of an organization invited to attend are requested to send the Participation Form (Form A) through their organization to the IAEA by the above deadline.

In addition to the Form A, applicants are requested to send a short CV with a brief justification statement why this training would be beneficial for their organization and their professional development.

Selected participants will be informed in due course on the procedures to be followed with regard to administrative and financial matters.

Participants are hereby informed that the personal data they submit will be processed in line with the Agency's Personal Data and Privacy Policy and is collected solely for the purpose(s) of reviewing and assessing the application and to complete logistical arrangements where required. The IAEA may also use the contact details of Applicants to inform them of the IAEA's scientific and technical publications, or the latest employment opportunities and current open vacancies at the IAEA. These secondary purposes are consistent with the IAEA's mandate.

Expenditures and Grants

No registration fee is charged to participants.

The IAEA is generally not in a position to bear the travel and other costs of participants in the event. The IAEA has, however, limited funds at its disposal to help meet the cost of attendance of certain participants. Upon specific request, such assistance may be offered to normally one participant per country, provided that, in the IAEA's view, the participant will make an important contribution to the event.

The application for financial support should be made using the Grant Application Form (Form C) which has to be stamped, signed and submitted by the competent national authority to the IAEA together with the Participation Form (Form A) by 2 March 2026.

Visas

Participants who require a visa to enter Austria should submit the necessary application as soon as possible to the nearest diplomatic or consular representative of Austria.
